

Calum MacNeill QC

Calum is highly ranked in the Chambers Guide to the UK legal profession. He has experience in most aspects of civil litigation, specialising in commercial, construction, professional negligence and employment law.

Mediation Experience

- Accredited as a commercial mediator by CEDR in 2005
- A member of Core Solutions group of mediators since 2008, he has been involved in a number of commercial mediations
- Principal mediator in a range of disputes, including
 - commercial contracts
 - intellectual property
 - construction industry
 - professional negligence
 - commercial property and leasing
- Calum has a style which parties and their advisers find constructive, imaginative and thoroughly professional. He listens to understand and uses all his experience and personality to help find resolution to conflict.

Professional Experience

- Member of the Faculty of Advocates since 1992
- Queen's Counsel since 2007
- Advocate Depute, 1998 – 2001
- Standing junior counsel to the Scottish Ministers, 2003 – 2006

Feedback

What the parties say:

- “Calum provided a subtle presence and handled matters with a light touch and a sense of humour, which was just what was needed in this particular mediation. He was good with the clients.”
- “My client obviously felt able to trust him and valued his opinion.”
- “Direct, when he needed to be.”
- “Quickly grasped the issues in dispute.”
- “.....you didn't see us at our best but you brought out the best in us! Your seamless transition across empathetic listening and gentle firm direction; governed by thoughtful navigation and oiled by humour, was an education!”