

Duncan Fraser

- Currently Strategic Service Manager for the City of Edinburgh Council. Specialist areas include road safety, transport modelling and planning, and designing the public realm space
- Membership of the Institution of Civil Engineers in 1977, also Institution of Highway and Transportation in 1978 and Associate of the Institute of Arbitrator in 1991
- 30 years of practice working initially for consultants, contractors and in the past 20 years for public authorities working on water retaining and building structures, roads and transport infrastructure planning
- Throughout career involvement in settlements of claims from different perspectives as consultant, contractor and client
- Trained as mediator with Core in 2004
- BSc honours degree in Civil Engineering and an MSc in Transportation
- Chair of the SCOTS Innovation Group with a specific interest in performance specification
- Chair of IHT Transport Policy Group which seeks to promote a sustainable approach to travel and adviser on the Olympic bid for London 2012
- Awarded the James Forrest medal by the Institution of Civil Engineers
- Industrial Adviser to Heriot Watt University on their Civil Engineering and Offshore Courses
- Lecturer at the Police Training College on traffic management